Gracious God, you invite us to join you in caring for the vulnerable,
and we hurt you when we do not accept your invitation.

We are sorry and ask your forgiveness.

You invite us to share the good news of your love,
and we hurt you when we do not accept your invitation.

We are sorry and ask your forgiveness.

You invite us to clothe ourselves with compassion and humility,
and we hurt you when we do not accept your invitation.

We are sorry and ask your forgiveness.

You invite us to take our place at your table,
and we hurt you when we do not accept your invitation.

We are sorry and ask your forgiveness, in Jesus'
name. Amen.

Eternal God, you clothe us with forgiveness, you cover us with your grace, you feed us with your word, you robe us with your generosity, you root us in your faithfulness, you gather us in your love, you invite us to be your disciples, and you go all out to draw us all in and call us each by name. Thank you Lord. Amen.

The Code

- The son is Jesus.
- The invited guests are the Jewish people.
- The first -The king is God.
- The slaves are the Hebrew prophets.
- The second and third sets of slaves are Christian missionaries.
- The burned city is Jerusalem.
- The “good and bad” constitutes the mixed membership of the church.

We give you thanks, wonderful God, for the gift of life, for the opportunities of life, for the invitations to flourish in life.

May we be as whole-hearted as you in all we do, as generous as you in all we give, as daring as you in all we dream, and as faithful as you in all our relationships.

Use these gifts given in cash and standing order to the benefit of those who need it the most.

Thank you for everything. Amen.

Go into the week ahead, and wherever we find ourselves, celebrating, or sharing a sadness, or anything in between, may we rejoice in God's grace.

See each moment as an invitation to meet with God, each meeting as an opportunity to invite others.

Until we meet again. Amen.
